WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 28, 1859.

A PERFECT WRETCH.

The love of aristocratic distinction, says the London Times, seems to be still deeply imprinted in the heart and soul of the Anglo-Saxon woman, and that journal proceeds to summarize the strange story disclosed at the Lambeth Police Court in London, a short time since, when "a whining comtemptible-look- Manufactured by Dr. R. H. Stabler, of this city, ing wretch" who has gone under the various and warranted to contain 8 per ct. of Ammonia, names of Marshall, Sloper and Harrison, the and 45 per ct. Soluble Bone Phosphates. Also, illegitimate son of a woman who dealt in old bottles, appeared to answer to a complaint against him of bigamy, made by his third wife, Mrs. Jane Hayes. She stated to the magistrate that her husband was "a young nobleman"; that on the 28th of June last she was conducted to the hymeneal altar at St. George's, Hanover square, by the Hon William Denhigh Sloper Harrison, the son of a nobleman, and an officer in the army.

She lived with him for a time, but a small black cloud arose on the horizon and soon darkened the brilliant sky of the Hon. Mrs. Sloper Harrison's honeymoon. She began to suspect that there was a slight hitch in that gay young nobleman's domestic arrangements and, in point of fact, there was another Hon. Mrs. Sloper Harrison still extant, and breathing vital air. This was bad enough, but worse remained behind. Had the Lothario been a real officer and a nobleman, thelatter pill of bigamy might have been digested; but it turned out that he was neither the one nor the other. So far from being an officer the young aristocrat's only connection with the military force of the country was that he had a brother in the unusual amount I believe, of the valuable ingr militia in the capacity of a private! And it further appeared that when very young "American Farmer," with which until within a few it further appeared that when very young he accompanied his stepfather to the house of a nobleman to assist him in bottling some bottler of beer contrived to open up communications with the belle of Belgravia, an tained by Dr. Bickell, Analytical Chemist, of this elopement was arranged, and its consumma- eity: tion was only prevented by the circumstance that one of the lady's letters fell into the wrong hands. His movements for several years after this somewhat startling episode are lost in uncertainty, but there is some reason to believe that he married a woman in humble circumstances, who supported him by an industrious use of the needle. In July, 1858, he contrived, by representing himself as the son of a nobleman, to fetter the heart of a respectable widow named Dawson, and led her to the altar. He travelled up and down the country with her for some time, spending her money most freely; but at last he deserted her. He next met a widow lady named Hays, and, under the false representations which preved fatal to Mrs. Dawson, he successfully stormed her gentle heart .-They were married, as we have said above, on the 28th of June last, the celebration taking place at that aristocratic sanctuary, St. Georges's, Hanover square, London.

golden promises he had lavishly hurled at the heart of Mrs. Hayes were, of course, never realized; on the contrary, the accom-plished bottle filler soon showed the poor widow that his tastes tended rather to the taproom than to the polished sphere generally sought by a "Captain in the royal navy, and the son of a nobleman." Mrs. Hayes soon got sick of the wretch and brought her case before a police justice, and this had the effect of opening up the history. The Hon. Sloper Marshall was removed to prison to await his trial at the Central Criminal Court, begging the spectators not to laugh at him, "because they themselves might get into a hobble some day or other." "The only reason," observes the London Times, "why we call any particuliar attention to such a case as this is, that it is a curious illustration of the fondness of our countrymen, however humble their station may be, for rank and title. Here was a wretched little whining creature, of com-temptible appearance and address, not tained, but saturated with vice,-who was able to betray one woman after another, simply because he gave out that he was a noble

The Rev. John Skinner, of Linshart, Longside, England, while passing along a street in the village, was met by an old woman who was in the habit of begging. As was her practice, she made a great solicitation for a half-penny. On feeling his pocket, Mr. Skinner discovered that he had not a halfpenny, but was in possession of a penny piece, which he handed to the woman. The sum being double what she expected, so excited her gratitude that she exclaimed: "Lord bless you, sir, and may a' that's gude attend your bonny family; and for yoursel', God sen' that ye may win to the kingdom of heaven this very night!" "Many thanks to you, Janet, for your good wishes," said Mr. Skinner : "but ye needna have been so very particular about the time."

GUANO No. 1. HAVE engaged in the Manipulation of GU-ANOS, and am now ready to supply the Far-mers and Planters of the United States with an article which I consider superior to anything of the kind which has yet been produced, having an months, I have been connected for 25 years, I have most emphatically urged upon the Farmers and Planters that the mixture of the Ammoniacal Guano (Peruvian) with the Phosphatic (Mexican, The ambitious youth, however, raised his Columbian, &c.,) was the best and cheapest applieyes from the cellar to the drawing-room, and succeeded in engaging the affections of one of the young ladies of the family. The bottler of boar control of the cellar to the drawing-room, and succeeded in engaging the affections of general views upon this subject, I refer to the pages of the American Farmer; and also, to my circular institute of boar control of the cellar to the drawing-room, and succeeded in engaging the affections of the young ladies of the family.

cent. Phosphates. It is intended that it shall reach the highest of hese standards, but some allowance is desired to be made, to meet any possible short-coming which by accident may be made. The Excelsior No. 1 I believe equal to the best Peruvian Guano on any crop to which that article is applied, and will surpass it as improvement to land. The Agricultural public have been much imposed upon by all sorts of professed fertilizers, but I have no hesitation in saying, that I believe this compound will be found the "Ne Plus Ultra" of anything of the kind which has yet been produced; and with this confidence in its value, I have agreed to introduce it to the SAMUEL SANDS, INDEN WHISKEY .- This WHISKEY is made in the old fashioned copper still, by dou-ble distillation, just beyond the summit of the Blue Ridge, in Warren county, Va., page the line of Fauquier, where the softness and purity of the mountain spring water, and the quality of the rye, constitute important elements in making the Whisker for which this logality has been long celebrated. It is perfectly pure, beyond all doubt, being made exclusively of rye, hops, and barley-malt, with the utmost care. The quantity made is limited, and bought principally for private use, by gentlemen connoissieurs in the surrounding counties, who are critically nice in laying by a stock for improvement. A small consignment has lately been made to MARSHALL & WARD, of Alexandria; or it can be procured direct, through correspondence with DR. FISHER, of Linden, Warren County, Va.

CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become Salt. -- Ashton's, Worthington' members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon Bexes, the Company thus far, and for its flattering propeets of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.
